FM CORN FED FILING

These environmentally friendly products are made of 30% corn complex material. Corn powder is used in the manufacturing process to achieve a biodegradable plastic composition which prevents the environmental problems of soil, air, and sea pollution caused by burial or incineration.

Made from 40% pre-consumer recycled material, 20% virgin polypropylene material and 10% post consumer material. Once finished product has served its intended use and has been recovered from waste destined for disposal, it is then considered “post-consumer”. Having completed its life as a consumer item, it can then be recycled as such. This differs from “preconsumer” recycled material, which is recycled material generated by industrial or manufacturing waste.

FM is getting even greener

Over the next few years, you'll see FM roll out new polypropylene Radofiles and polypropylene ring binders to replace the PVC versions. This means that the product will change slightly, such as the colour and texture, but we think change is good when it helps our environment.
